Many years ago, there was a famous Karaoke in Taichung. There were many of circles in that Karaoke and each of the circles had their own restroom. Therefore, there were two doors in each of circles. One was the door of the restroom and the other one was the exit door, so there were two doors beside the television. The situation happened in one of the circle of the Karaoke. One day, a group of people were singing songs happily. Suddenly, a waiter came in and asked, "Did anyone push the service button?" , and everyone said no. Thirty minutes passed and another waiter came in and asked again
