Many years ago, there was a girl named Wetly, she was ugly and every one hated her so much.

One day night, she walked home by herself. When she walked across the railroad, she felt dizzy. She lay on the railroad, and suddenly the train came through and crashed Wetly into half.

Next morning, the dead body was gone. No one knew, but Alex saw everything. Alex said that the body climbed away by herself, and the legs walked away by themselves too.
